End of the Road for SAVE BODIE! Committee!

by Donna Pozzi

Our work at Bodie is done. While Bodie won't ever really be saved, the immediate threat from open-pit gold mining has subsided. It's time to pause and ponder our amazing achievement, to celebrate, and to move on to the next challenge to the integrity of the State Park System.

What has finally happened is that the federal Bodie Protection Act has been implemented and acquisition of key lands has been completed. This may be a surprise to you because this has all occurred rather quietly. SAVE BODIE! has been relatively dormant since there wasn't anything we needed to do; the appropriate government agencies have been working to ensure Bodie's preservation.

As you may remember, our position all along has been that we would act only when necessary. Back in 1988, had the Department of Parks and Recreation been allowed to take a position to protect Bodie, CSPRA's SAVE BODIE! Committee would never have been formed. We reluctantly stepped forward to fill a void. While I'd like to think "the rest is history" and well known to all readers, it bears repeating. I'd like to remind today's CSPRA board and membership of what we've been capable of in the past and hope this serves as an inspiration for the challenges ahead. (Continued on page 7)

Presidents Message

by Scott Nakaji

The political process is very interesting . I have never considered myself to be very politically astute, and believe me, there are times when I hear CSPRA Lobbying Consultant Cliff Berg talk politics, and it goes right over my head. Luckily Cliff is a patient man, and he always takes the time to translate what was said into layman's terms.

CSPRA is now establishing a presence in the halls of the State Capitol, something we've never had before.

That said, I must also say that along with all the things CSPRA does, we belong in the political arena. Everyone else out there, especially schools and prisons, have powerful well organized lobbies, while there is generally nobody to speak up for parks. CSPRA is now establishing a presence in the halls of the State Capitol, something we've never had before.

The 1998 elections are looming, and there are several resource related proposals on the table. CSPRA has opposed Senate Bill 87, donation of land for tax credits, for a variety of reasons, mainly that it profits big business and could have adverse effects on parks. Planning and Conservation League has a proposed initiative on the table that ties SB 87 to Tideland Oil revenues that may provide DPR with some funding, but only for special projects, not infrastructure and deferred maintenance.

With CSPRA taking a lead role, members can expect to be contacted and asked to contribute.

That brings us to Senate Bill 2 (Thompson). SB 2 is the proposed 1998 Park Bond Act that would provide $125 million to DPR for infrastructure and deferred maintenance. It's not a fix all, but it's a start. Unfortunately, it may not make it onto the ballot unless we can generate support and raise the awareness of legislators.

We all have a personal stake in the health of the State Park System. CSPRA is taking a lead role in exposing legislators to the importance of State Parks and the problems that we face. I want everyone to remember that CSPRA is made up of 500 or so active and retired employees of the State Park System, not seven board members and a lobbying consultant. As I stated when I assumed the presidency, I believe that communication is the key. With CSPRA taking a lead role, members can expect to be contacted and asked to contribute.

Let's take some pride in who we are and what we do. We can make it work!

SB 2 Park Bond Act

This letter was recently written to several key legislators, and was hand delivered to their offices by Cliff Berg along with complimentary copies of Mike Lynch's book "The History of the State Park Ranger."

July 11, 1997

The Honorable Cruz Bustamante California State Assembly P.O. Box 942849 Sacramento, CA 94249-0001

Dear Speaker Bustamante,

The California State Park Rangers Association (CSPRA) is a professional organization representing over five hundred employees of the California Department of Parks and Recreation.

CSPRA urges you to move Senate Bill 2 (Thompson) through appropriations. The last bond act affecting parks and wildlife resources was passed in 1988, and funds generated from that bond act are close to depletion. There is a critical need in California's State Parks for deferred maintenance and the rehabilitation of existing facilities.

The California State Park System is the most diverse state park system in the world. It serves the needs of over 70 million visitors each year, and California State Park employees are responsible, according to the department's mission statement, "to provide for the health, education and inspiration of the people of California." Each year, throughout California, the State Park System's 264 units provide programs designed for the education of schoolchildren, safety and enjoyment of recreationalists and protection of the state's most treasured resources for the enjoyment of future generations.

For years, the lack of a stable funding source has led to an estimated $500 million backlog of deferred maintenance and capitol outlay needs within the State Park System. The passage of SB 2 through appropriations is the first step toward filling this need.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Scott S. Nakaji President

Comprehensive Trail Construction and Maintenance Training

by Nick Franco

Until recently, comprehensive trail construction and maintenance training has not been available in California. Most agency personnel and volunteers have had to learn on the job in a hit and miss fashion. California State Parks decided to take the initiative and develop a program for its employees. The program involves three weeks of training scheduled a week at a time over about a year and a half. The first training group has completed its training. One National Park Service and two Monterey Peninsula Regional Park District employees joined 20 graduates from CA State Parks.

Graduates were enthusiastic in evaluating the program. One long time, CA State Parks employee said it was the best training he had been to in 32 years with the Department. A National Park Service employee stated "The quality of training and professionalism displayed . . . exceeds that of any formal training I've experienced in my career." A graduate from Monterey Peninsula Regional Park District commented "Nothing that I have witnessed compares to the extent of knowledge that is being opened to this class by our state's best trail professionals. The instructors maintain a caliber of excellence that any trail enthusiast strives for. The instructors maintain a caliber of excellence that any trail enthusiast strives for. They are the best in the field. (Continued on page 4) One long time, CA State Parks employee said it was the best training he had been to in 32 years with the Department.

Ms Mary Wright Chair, Nominating Committee

Dear Mary:

I want to thank you, along with Susan Smartt and Karen Wilson, for the CSPRA recognition of becoming an Honorary California State Park Ranger. I will wear my hat proudly when I visit State Parks in the future — as I've worn a NPS Honorary Ranger hat to National Parks!

I am very honored to join Walt Disney, whom I knew, and previous recipients!

Thank you again!

Very sincerely,

Bill L.W. "Bill" Lane, Jr.A.O.

If you have a trail dilemma, this class will give you numerous options to choose from. I can attest to their ability to find a solution to any trail situation."

CA State Parks will be offering the program again with the first week of class starting in February of 1998. Due to a high level of interest by other agencies and individuals, California State Parks will be opening the training to anyone interested. We expect about 15-20 slots to be open to non-CA State Park employees. Costs are expected to be about $900 per week including room and board. Interested parties may gain additional information by calling Steve Wagy at the William Penn Mott, Jr. Training Center at (408) 649-2959 or at http://www.mbay.net/-dprmtc/.

Stress in the Park Family

by Nick Franco

Over the past few years we have been tenuously clinging to the notion of the park family. I hear many comments that this park family doesn't exist anymore or that it is at best a dysfunctional family. Like most families, we have ups and downs in the way we view our relationships to one another. The reasons families break up or become dysfunctional are many. One of the main causes of stress in families is money and the different priorities that each family member has.

I believe that this has become one of the major stresses in the our family today. We are fighting over limited resources, both money and personnel. We cannot let these differences in priorities or competition for limited resources diminish our long term perspective of achieving our overall mission. Sometimes we will loose some of our allowance money to help pay for our sister's braces or our brother's new shoes. Later down the road, the family is better off even though we may have had to make sacrifices. We must remember that we all are working towards the same goals. Greet the other members of our family with respect and understanding. Don't let money worries hurt our family. And most importantly, keep everyone informed. Maintenance needs to let visitor services know what projects they are planning and visitor services needs to let maintenance know about special events and visitor needs. While money is one of the main stresses in the breakup of families, communication is the key to creating healthy families. Let's keep our communication open and make sure that we don't lose our state park family.

Capitol Corner by Jill Dampier

The State's budget has been the topic of discussion in the Legislature and Capitol recently. Our Legislative Consultant, Cliff Berg, and Senator Mike Thompson were instrumental in removing a provision in the Governor's proposed budget for CA State Parks that proposed DPR raise $585,000 by charging school group fees. These moneys were to help reduce $1 million from our current General Fund appropriation, and increase revenues by a like amount. The provision was removed and the moneys will come from the general fund (for now).

SB 2 (Thompson) Park and Resources Improvement Bond Act is still in suspension in the Appropriations Committee with all other bonds. Rumor has it that all bills pertaining to bonds may be held until January because of the length of time it's taking to get the State's budget passed. CSPRA Board Members are still working on getting a good data base of information together about parks and making contacts with other organizations to form a coordinated grassroots campaign for supporting SB 2 and ultimately the passage of the bond.

The Planning and Conservation League (PCL) is sponsoring an initiative, California Heritage Endowment Act, that incorporates SB 87 (O'Connell) with Tidelands Oil Drilling Revenues to create a funding source for specific projects and programs. SB 87 gives state tax credits to landowners that donate land to state and local agencies for environmental purposes. Our position on this initiative has not been finalized. We feel that SB 2 should be our primary issue because it addresses our most pressing needs; i.e., funds for rehabilitation of facilities and infrastructure. Moneys available through this initiative would be limited in amount and scope. We will keep you posted.

Please write letters of support for SB 2 to the following individuals. It is important for them to know that there is support for the bill and, ultimately for the bond. Please "cc" a copy of the letter to Senator Thompson:

Only A Little Planet

The planet you're standing on looking out at the stars is the earth, the third planet from the sun and the mildest and softest of the nine

If you can stop, and let, yourself look, let your eyes do what they do best, stop and let yourself see and see that everything is doing things to you as you do things to everything.

Then you know that although it is only a little planet it is hugely beautiful and surely the finest place in the world to be.

So watch it, look at it see what it's like to walk around on it.

It's small but it's beautiful it's small but it's fine like a rainbow, like a bubble.

What did we accomplish and how did we do it?

Here is a list of some of the highlights. SAVE BODIE! :

-Articulated the threat to the historic ghost town and created a national issue;

-Mobilized an army of CSPRA members, environmentalists, preservationists, park visitors, school kids, friends, and family;

-Developed expertise in hard rock mining technology, mining law, and environmental impact analysis;

-Created the SAVE BODIE! News and sent it regularly to thousands of supporters;

-Participated in local and regional planning forums to express concern over Bodie's future;

-Generated thousands of letters to officials and decision makers detailing the concerns for Bodie's fragile historic, cultural, biological and wilderness values;

-Developed a strong coalition of national and statewideenvironmental, historic preservation and mining law reform organizations;

-Lobbied at all levels of government with the pro bono help of several topnotch firms;

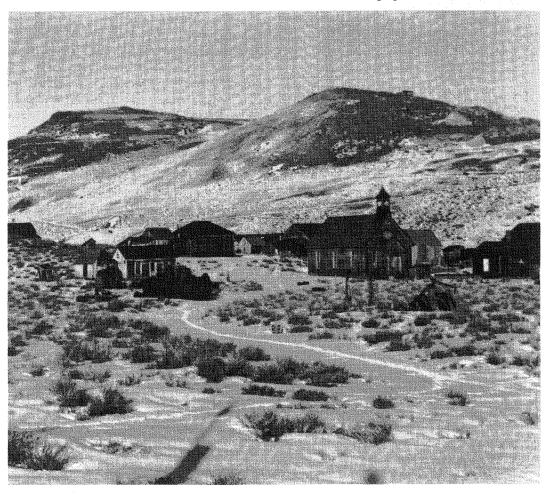

-Testified in the California Legislature and U.S. Congress;

-Established relationships with legislators in California and Washington, DC;

-Succeeded in the passage of a California Senate Joint Resolution, two bills in the House of Representatives and one in the U.S. Senate;

-Wrote and received grants as well as in-kind contributions from writers, photographers, artists, computer experts, accountants, historians, and biologists;

-Received hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of pro bono legal assistance; (Continued on page 8) -Established relationships with legislators in California and Washington, DC;

-Conducted a major fund-raising campaign generating $50,000;

-Appeared before editorial boards and garnered supportive editorials in the major newspapers in the state;

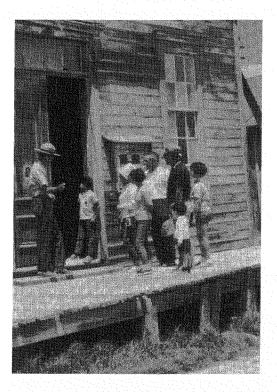

-Received television, radio and newspaper coveragethroughout California and across the country;

-Served on national committees to gain understanding and support for Bodie's threat;

-Created a reputation for CSPRA as an effective and influential force.

It's a pretty impressive list and I'm sure I've omitted something.

In June, escrow closed on a major acquisition that will double the size of Bodie State Historic Park.

My personal list complements the above:

 -Mobilized all CSPRA board members to get involved;

-Recruited the brightest, most talented people I know to join the SAVE BODIE! Committee;

-Got everyone I know to write letters, stuff envelopes, give money, and/or buy SAVE BODIE! t-shirts;

-Gave SAVE BODIE! t-shirts for all gift-giving occasions to everyone I know;

-Filled one room in my house with the infamous "Bodie boxes" full of files, news clippings, videotapes, correspondence, supplies, newsletters, reports, etc.;

-Spent my 40th birthday alone in Washington, DC;

-Developed new friendships with Bodie lovers all over theworld;

-Deepened old friendships as everyone I know always lent a hand when asked;

-Learned to believe we really can change the world!

All in all, a life-enriching experience. I'll always be grateful for having the opportunity to lead this crusade and for all who contributed so much to such a worthy cause.

New Acquisition Protects Bodie

In June, escrow closed on a major acquisition that will double the size of Bodie State Historic Park. As with everything involving mining claims and bankruptcies, it's complicated. The property being acquired includes the hillside behind the ghost town which had been threatened by open-pit mining. With the bankruptcy of the Canadian mining company Galactic Resources, Ltd., it became possible to purchase their holdings from the bankruptcy trustee.

The acquisition by State Parks includes 60% of mineral interests in the 520-acre parcel. The remaining 40% of the mineral rights has been purchased by the American Land Conservancy. The Bureau of Land Management, which owns the surface lands surrounding the park, is hoping to acquire those mineral rights. They are seeking more than $2 million in federal Land and Water Conservation funds in the upcoming budget for this purchase.

What this means is that the patented claims adjacent to the park will now become part of the park. The more recent mining claims on the public lands will be returned to public use and closed from future mining claims.

The park will increase in size from 495 to 1,015 acres.

The park will celebrate its 35th anniversary in September with a rededication that will bring this most recent chapter in Bodie's colorful history to a close. Now Bodie lovers can continue to pursue the challenge of saving the ghost town from the elements, from the pressures of tourism, and from inappropriate commercial ventures.

Ghosts for Bodie

When I try to imagine the upcoming September event, I'm reminded of the painting in the California State Railroad Museum depicting the ceremonial pounding of the golden spike at Promontory. Individuals are shown in the painting who weren't present for the actual event. Theodore Judah, for example, didn't live to see the railroad completed. In the case of Bodie, there are some people who won't be there—except in spirit. They deserve special mention.

Bill Monaghan was the regional director at Inland Region when Galactic Resources first appeared on the scene. Despite the fact that the department was unable to take official and definitive action on Bodie's behalf, Bill never wavered in his personal commitment. His confidence in me was a strong motivating factor in my decision to take on this overwhelming fight. When we were trying to make a decision about changing CSPRA lawyers, he took a day of vacation to participate in an important meeting. His willingness to take risks and his dedication to doing "the right thing" will always inspire me. Thanks, Bill.

Bill Mott was still director of the National Park Service when the Bodie threat erupted. He provided access to top NPS staff. When he came to work at the Western Region office in San Francisco, he continued to be extremely helpful, to the consternation of the staff. He never let turf or technicalities get in the way; he too believed in doing "the right thing." He even helped us with our fund-raising. Also, he helped me prepare for my congressional testimony by faxing me some information about the government's position. He cared deeply about Bodie. Thanks, Bill.

My mother never got to go to Bodie but that didn't stop her from writing letters to elected officials, convincing others to write, running a one-woman clipping service, and donating money whenever we were desperate. She was a very strong and determined individual. Being a naturalized citizen made her really appreciate our democratic system. A mother's support is one of the most empowering forces imaginable. Thanks, Mom.

There were others. Former State Park and Recreation Commissioner John Whitehead wasn't fooled by Galactic's tactics. Wallace Stegner let us use his name on our letterhead. So did former State Senator Peter Behr. And then there's Michael O'Rourke. He worked for Galactic as a security guard for a while. I don't think he ever believed they would succeed in mining. Shortly before his death, he called me one night to discuss the plans for an excursion train on the old railroad right-of-way above Bodie. He never stopped caring about the special place he loved. Thank you all.

My mother never got to go to Bodie but that didn't stop her from writing letters to elected officials, convincing others to write, running a one-woman clipping service, and donating money whenever we were desperate. . . . Thanks, Mom.

Former CSPRA Attorney in National Spotlight

Did you follow all the media coverage about the recent Tahoe Summitt? If you did, you undoubtedly saw Rochelle Nason, the executive director of the League to Save Lake Tahoe. She was on network and local news, in the newspaper, as well as a public television piece.

Some of you may remember Rochelle as one of our attorneys from the firm of Morrison & Foerster. She helped us with SAVE BODIE! for several crucial years before moving on to her position with the League. Way to go, Rochelle!

Retirees' Ramblin's

Jim Davis

Greetings from the middle of the Pacific, Maui - Hawaii where "Ramblin" is difficult. Maui is about fifty miles long and nine miles wide where the roads are. Most of the island is occupied by two volcanoes, one five thousand feet high and extinct and the other ten thousand feet high and dormant (last eruption, two hundred years ago). I was at the harbor recently picking up something or other and there I witnessed a scene that would tear at the heart of the dedicated "R-Ver'. These California folks were picking up their forty foot plus Class A motor home. Dad, who had come on ahead, was explaining to Mom and the kids, just arrived, that there were no RV parks — that State and County Parks were "hike-in" and that there were no R-V dump stations. What is the old saying? "Before you invest, investigate."

1996 was an interesting year in our house. In March, I lost an eye due to a complete retinal detachment. I got seventy two good years out of it, so no complaint. On the good side I published my first book, the history of my World War 11 Army Engineer unit. It sells well, particularly to Army historical offices which was my hope. Research has been started for the next one, an illustrated history of the fire trucks of my World War II days and my careers with the National Park and the California State Park Services, hoping to publish this fall.

This section of the CSPRA News Letter is really, as I read it, to share "Ramblin" experiences. Our "Ramblin" has put on hold for a while as an elderly family member, who lives with us, fell last fall and broke a hip. She now lives with a walker and wheel chair and much care from us. Someday, we will "Ramble" again, first to the South Pacific which we have yet to visit and then back to South East Asia which we have. Until we can tell a bit about those "Ramblins", we wish you and yours the best. Aloha.

Kirby Morgan

We have left our home base at Coarsegold, CA and are wondering our way north to Oregon and Washington. We vend at various street fairs and festivals until July when we start our three month volunteer stint with Oregon Fish & Wildlife, Columbia Regional Office in Clackamas. We were there two months last year. Had a wonderful experience. I worked ground maintenance and Carol worked in the office and for the District Volunteer Coordinator.

In October we work our way back to Sacramento via the Rendevous, for a two month job at a tie Cart at Arden Fair, at least thats the way the contract is being drawn up now. We have not signed it, got to double check the fine print. So guess this is dreams untill our signatures are inked in place.

Bill Krumbein

Let's see . . . a while back I took a hot air baloon ride, I haven't trimmed my mustache for about a year now, jumped out of an airplane, wear two earrings in my left ear and just got tattoo.

My future agenda includes a biplane ride, a rafting trip, a hike across the Grand Canyon and maybe I'll grow a ponytail.

This all fits with my new found philosophy, "It's okay to color outside the lines." Beth sometimes thinks I'm coloring off the page. I'm really enjoying life.

Bob Perkins

I will be flying my airplane into "Turlock Muni." (To attend the Retirees Rendezvous) Dave Stratton will meet me. Looking forward to the event!

Editor:s Note: Bob has many tales to tell about his exciting retirement exploits. He'll be telling these at this years Retiree's Rendezvous at McConnel October 2-6. Maybe he'll tell you the one about Bo Derek, Brigette Bardot, "Tiger Lady" and the 800 pound lion.
